

FATIGUE 2018

12TH INTERNATIONAL FATIGUE CONGRESS

May 27-June 1st 2018

POITIERS FUTUROSCOPE, FRANCE

The 12th International Fatigue Congress, Fatigue'2018, will be held for the first time in France, and more precisely in the Futuroscope area located in the "Grand Poitiers" metropolitan area, from May, 27th to June, 1st 2018.

Staging the Fatigue 2018 Conference in France will constitute a unique opportunity for the French community to present its achievements, and reciprocally for the international community to extend their exchange with the French and European colleagues. The logistical and scientific organization of this event will be ensured by a local organising committee in cooperation with the Fatigue Committee of the SF2M (French Society for Metallurgy and Materials), under the guidance of the International Steering Committee. In addition, an International Scientific Committee will assist this local committee in the promotion of the Congress within their respective scientific and national communities and in the preparation of the scientific program. The Fatigue'2018 Conference format will furthermore follow the tradition of the previous editions. Basically, the rich program will be structured along 6 parallel technical sessions, allowing about 400 oral presentations, including keynote lectures. Plenary lectures (8) will aim to offer an overview of recent significant achievements in different fields where fatigue is a concern. An attention will be paid to respect a balance between the themes of these lectures and the nationality of invited speakers.

The will of the Organizing Committee is nevertheless to particularly take care of the following points:

- Ensure a high scientific and technical level, in particular by inviting renowned guest lecturers, while balancing the geographical origins of the speakers and the mixing of academic and industrial interventions;
- Guarantee, through a policy of discount registration fees, the widest participation of PhD students who will soon have the responsibility of the development and the animation of this theme and more generally maintain the fees at a reasonable level;
- Preserve moments of conviviality during social events in order to intensify exchanges and promote networking.

I do not doubt that you can readily assess the benefits of such an event for your company. However, the objectives mentioned here above will not be fully achieved without financial support from companies or institutional bodies. I am of course at your disposal to discuss the form that could take your contribution (sponsorship of a social event, goodies distributed to the attendees, booth in the exhibition ...). We thank you in advance for the financial support you can provide for the organization of this major event.
